COAST ITEMS

A Crow Indian chief was shot by a white man about two weeks ago, between Big and Little Poreupine rivers, Montana.

There is a force of men at work on the Coos Bay and Coquille railroad, near Sumner, Or. There will be spent about $30,000 this summer in preliminary work.

The railroad company, says the Roseburg (Or.) Independent, are discharging men every day, and Chiamaen's wages have been reduced to 50 cents a day. Several gangs have struck, and large numbers are leaving the road.

From the Blue Mountains, near Weston, Or., to the Columbia river, forty miles to the west, says the Leader, there is almost an unbroken stretch of wheat fields, which never in extent or promise approached the present hopeful condition.

A San Diego Union correspondent at Warner's ranch says: "During one of the recent thunderstorms some very large hailstones fell, so large that they beat off the leaves of the oak trees and damaged the young wheat in an Indian's field."

A three-year-old child of Thomas Hughes, an emigrant from Idaho on route from Iowa to Walla Walla, W. T., was thrown between the platforms of the cars by the sudden starting of the train at Echo, U. T., last Saturday, and so injured as to die in a short time.

O'Reilly, who worked at pneumatics, was crippled and lamed with sciatic.

Again he is well.

And anxious to tell

St. Jacobs Oil cured his rheumatism.

Albert Blair, while playing at Binghamton, Solano county, several days ago, ran a silver into his foot. Dr. Trafton was called in,

and had to administer chloroform before it could be taken out. Tuesday morning he died, the physicians say, from spasms of the heart.

Rice W. Simpson, an Oregon

pioneer of 1845, died at his home on the Luckinute on the 14th inst.

He was born in Georgia in 1808, removed to Tennessee in 1814, thence to Kentucky in 1830, and thence to Missouri in 1833. He settled on the Luckinute four years after he arrived in Oregon, and had lived there ing Brown's Iron Bitters, all my troubles are at an end. Can eat any time without any disagreeable results. I am practically another

THE GLORIOUS RAIN.

The long-expected rain has come at last, and "from Siskiyou to San Diego, and from the Sierras to the sea," the people of California are made glad once more, says the Sacramento Bee. Most of the early sown grain is yet in a condition to make good growth and yield, and it is possible that much of the latter sown from which nothing has been of late expected will receive great benefit from this and the other Spring storms that are sure to come. One noticeable feature of the recent dry spell has been the absence of those severe, parching north winds which in past seasons have done so much injury to the young grain. Instead, we have been blessed with southerly breezes and fogs, so that the moisture in the ground has not evaporated beyond a few inches in depth, thus keeping the roots of the grain in a comparatively healthy condition.

This will not, of course, apply to all localities, for there is quite a strip of country in Colusa, and another on the west side of the San Joaquin river, in which the crops have already been ruined through want of rain. On the whole, it may—and doubtless will—be found that the present storm, which prevails quite generally over the State, will insure a fair harvest, perhaps as bountiful as that of last year, while the fruit, grape, hop and other crops never promised better than at the present time. If wheat should maintain its present prices until the new crop comes in, the farmers will have a prosperous year, even though the grain yield should not be up to the average.

This glorious rain is the greatest blessing of the year. Everybody is rejoicing over it, for it assures a season of prosperity to farmers, horticulturists and business men generally. The capitalists will the more readily loosen their purse strings, and the many enterprises that seemed about to languish will receive a new impetus. Everybody is happy again.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Suit has been commenced in White Pine county against McConkey's bondsmen to recover the defalcation. O. M. Converse, one of the bondsmen, is willing to pay over his proportion at once, but Sadler and others propose to stand suit, on the ground that it was murder and not suicide.

The first issue of the Walker Lake Bulletin comes to hand with a good display of patronage and well prepared local matter. It is published by J. M. Campbell, at Hawthorne, the county seat of Esmeralda.

The Carson Appeal is crowded with ads. Sam says he will either have to have a larger paper or larger prices.

 The fancy ball given by Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Vanderbilt in their new house was unquestionably the most brilliant and picturesque entertainment ever given in New York. The house itself, as seen under the blaze of light and kindled into splendor everywhere by masses of flowers and the moving throng of the most varied and magnificent costumes, was the most fitting framework an artist could have asked.

Norris Has Trouble About His Prisoner—He Outwits a Sheriff.

OMAHA, March 27.
 John T. Norris, detective, of the Columbus, Hooking Valley and Toledo Railroad, who arrested the gambler Leon Houck in California a few days ago for a murder committed on the railway in Ohio which employs Norris, arrived in this city this morning, half a day earlier than was expected, and lodged him in jail to wait for the evening train, on which to proceed East. Norris was unexpected, and a move was made to outwit him by the friends of Houck, and the Sheriff of Cheyenne, whom Norris learned would arm themselves with a writ of habeas corpus issued from a Denver court to take the prisoner off the train at Cheyenne. Norris says he was aware before he left San Francisco of the plan, which was to get out a habeas corpus and have the prisoner released at Denver by swearing an alibi. Norris surmised the Sheriff of Cheyenne would meet him with a writ, and to mislead him telegraphed from Laramie that he wanted assistance in transferring the prisoner to another train and would arrive on the regular train. Then Norris procured a special train at Laramie and accompanied by Superintendent Dickinson of the Union Pacific made a run of 234 miles to Denver Junction, dashing through Cheyenne without stopping and overtaking the train from Denver at that place.

Houck appeared chagrined when he saw the detective's plan, but says he would not have gone with the writ, but preferred to go to Chicago and stand trial for the murder of Lohman, for he had done the killing in self-defense. At the depot at Cheyenne the passenger room was filled with a disappointed crowd, comprising gamblers from all quarters.

Betty and the Baby in Hot Water.

WASHINGTON, March 27.

It was understood at the time that the amount of subscription for "Betty and the Baby" only amounted to $3,000 or $4,000. J. G. Bigelow, Sergeant Mason's counsel, believes the contributions aggregated $12,000, of which $7,000 was left on deposit in Riggs & Co.'s bank in this city. As he has not been paid for his efforts to get Mason released on habeas corpus he now sues the Sergeant and Betty and the bank and every interested person—in fact everybody except the baby—for $3,500, or such other sum as may be found to be fair compensation for his labors, together with reimbursement for expenses he has incurred.

Fiendish Revenge Upon a Domestic Trespasser.

CHICAGO, March 27.

A Battle Creek (Mich.) special says a man named Johnson, living near Johnstown, suspected a hired man of undue intimacy with the former's wife, and finding his prey alone in a dense wood, bound and gagged him and succeeded in securely pinioning him to a tree. After mutilating his person, his assailant left his prey, and the latter was discovered by a search party two days afterward, unconscious, and his limbs badly frozen, but he may recover. Johnson and wife have fled.

Poison in Mormondom—New Telegraph Line.

SALT LAKE, March 26.

At Santaquin, Utah, on Wednesday, the wife of W. R. Scott, railroad agent at that place, placed some poisoned bread in the pantry for the purpose of killing mice, but unfortunately one of the children ate a piece of it, which resulted in his death yesterday.

Salt Lake was placed in telegraphic communication with Denver to-day by the new line constructed by the Denver and Rio Grande railway.

Soldiers who Don't Like to Herd Gravestones.

CLEVELAND, March 26.

Joseph Kashinsky, a private of Company A, Tenth U. S. Infantry, under Lieutenant S. Y. Lyburn, on duty at Garfield's grave, at Lakeview cemetery, has become insane, and was yesterday taken to Fort Wayne, Detroit, for care and treatment. It is a peculiar form of insanity and melancholy and a peculiar state of affairs came to light when the case was looked up. The men on guard decline their duty and several cases are reported of men committing offenses for the express purpose of getting punished. Any device is used to get away from the ghostly array of mounds and tombs. This is said to have driven Kashinsky insane, and his incoherent language and actions carry out the impression. One of the men, a veteran, said to-night: "I dread the duty, although I am not afraid of it, and do not complain, but on the younger men the strain is intense." Many tricks are reported to escape the night watches. Kashinsky is a young Poleander, but ten months a soldier, and 21 years of age, and until this terrible trouble came he was a light-hearted, healthy young man.

I. E. James not Killed—Indians on the War-path.

TOMBSTONE, March 26.

Yesterday news came from the Custer house that I. E. James and C. M. Thorndyke were safe at that place, although they had just passed through a section of country overrun with hostiles. This afternoon there arrived here reports showing over twenty men to have been killed, and great excitement exists. The reports confirm the killing of George Woodward and William Hopstad. Indians were seen yesterday at Swisshelm's, forty miles from here. It is supposed that at Swisshelm's is where they will concentrate. They have set fire to the grass, and the country for miles around is in a blaze.

TUCSON, A. T., March 27.

There are no authoritative accounts of the movements of Indians since Saturday. The bodies of 2 more have been found on the trail of the Indians, and neither has been identified. There are rumors from all directions, but nothing reliable. General Crook is placing his men at various points likely to be visited by Indians and has sent a force in pursuit. The people of the Territory have hope of good results, but many murders will be reported within the next 48 hours; for as no Indians have left the reservation it is now believed all or nearly all the Indians on the war-path are those driven over to Mexico last year and now returned for a raid in Arizona.

GLONG, Arizona, March 27.

A man was killed near Stein's Pass, N. M., a short distance from the Arizona line, yesterday, by two Apaches. John Emerick is missing and is supposed to be killed. The other men in camp escaped to York's ranch. The military line between this point, Fort Bayard Fort Cummings is abandoned. It is said that a large band of Indians are secreted in the mountains north of York's Ranch.

The following is just received from Richmond, 10:30 A. M.: George A. Parker just arrived, reported that Indians attacked Swing's station, 7 miles South of York's, and five men were killed.

A Horse Trade.

Ayers & Lowell, of Fort Bidwell, one day last week sold two hundred head of horses to Chrisman & Green of Summer Lake, Oregon.

"YOUNG MRS. WINTHROP."

The Rival of "Hazel Kirke" and "Esmeralda."

Bronson Howard's play of "Young Mrs. Winthrop" is a charming and interesting one. It is far superior to anything produced in Reno for several years. It is a picture drawn from real life, with all the light and shade of the joys and sorrows common to humanity.

It presents a phase of domestic life, as it exists under certain conditions, which is delightful in its extreme naturalness. This makes of it a genuine society play. It is charming in its atmosphere of domesticity. The story is a simple one, simply told. It is the recital of a marital estrangement and subsequent reunion. Husband and wife are slowly drifting apart. Gradually their lives have insensibly widened. The fault is his, but he is unconscious of it. He is indifferent to his wife's longing for his company. He is rich; he has a beautiful and comfortable home. Everything is luxurious; there are no anxieties, no worries. She should be happy, he thinks. He has business schemes, in which she cannot be possibly interested—it is not of her world. He goes his way, giving no thought to the little woman at home, who, though surrounded by wealth, yearns for a loving word, for a tender caress from him. She gives up hope gradually and tries to accommodate herself to the conditions. She seeks for consolation and attention elsewhere, and finds in the gaieties and politics of society temporary relief. He begins to notice her coldness and reserve. He ascribes her apathy to waning love, as she has already done in his case. The little life that might have still kept them together flickers out like a spark, and desolation adds its darkness. He resolves on a separation, which will give them both the freedom they both seem to wish for. She mechanically assents.

The old family lawyer is called to arrange matters in proper shape. He sees that their love is but sleeping, and determines to bring them together again. He reads the documents of separation and division of property. A reference to the date of their marriage recalls incidents connected with the ceremony. He stops to relate them; his listeners are interested, draw near, and with bated breath and beating hearts drink in his words. They correct him in minor details—misstatements that are purposely made by the old lawyer—refer to one another; think and talk of the past, until their memory brings them to the present, and they stop and move away. Again and again the old lawyer touches the heart-strings. Each time the same thing occurs, but the recoil lessens. The ice is melting, the springs of tenderness are welling up, ready to flow. Something more is needed. The little grave is mentioned, its silent and beloved occupant stretches its spirit arms to them, and through the child they go to each other for ever and ever. This is a delicate, domestic story, touched with genuine sentiment and honest pathos, that moves the kindest and best sensibilities. It is well told, well balanced, and the development is gradual and powerful. It is elevated in thought and beautiful in expression. There is absolutely no strain after dramatic effect, yet the tenderest emotions of the heart are touched, and the noble impulses of the mind aroused. Bronson Howard has made no effort to electrify the audience; naturalness has been the chief aim in view. It is a simple appeal to the gentlest and most sacred feelings that find a place in our hearts—an appeal to the true and tender emotions of our souls.

Box sheet open to-morrow morning. The Madison Square Company will present this charming drama next Saturday.

Rice's Surprise Party.

The box sheet is rapidly filling up for Rice's Surprise party to-morrow night. A treat is in store, and everyone in town intends to enjoy it. The Salt Lake Tribune says: "Rice's Surprise Party made an unqualified hit last night in Pop. The company is well selected, and the play rattles off with such rapidity that little time is left to reflect upon what one is laughing at. The fun is kept lively enough throughout the entertainment, and nothing is aimed at but simply to please and make the auditors laugh. The frequent bursts of applause and loud laughter on the part of the crowded audience testified that the ultimate aim was fully realized. Miss Kate Castleton is the leading soubrette, and acquires herself with a certain aplomb and neatness that is amusing. John A. Mackay is good, and created most of the fun by his original style of humor and burlesque. George Fortescue is also an excellent comedian. Miss May Stebler has a pretty soprano voice, which she uses with effect, while Miss Irene Perry is a good actress and sings well. The specialties introduced are all excellent, especially the song, "For Goodness Sake Don't Say I Told You," by Miss Castleton. The music introduced is bright and lively and well rendered.

Cattle Looking Well.

The cattle men of various parts of the State say that their stock looks better now than it has at this time of year for the past ten years. The open Winter has been quite favorable to them.

BEEF TRANSACTIONS.

The Largest Sale of Stock Cattle on Record.

Perhaps the largest transaction in cattle ever made in this country was effected at Fort Worth, Texas, last Saturday, the sale being 75,000 head of full-grown cattle by the Ickards and Harrell brothers to the Franklin Land and Cattle Company of New York. The price paid has been kept private, but the figures are understood to be about $25 per head, which would aggregate nearly $2,000,000. Following is a list of the transactions of the Texas Investment Company of Fort Worth within the past few days: They sold to Chase & Fulsome 6,000 yearlings for $102,000, averaging $17; to Maulding and Fulsome 2,000 stock cattle, $40,000, averaging $20; to Ford & Wyeth 14,600 stock cattle, $330,000, averaging about $22; bought of Halsell Bros. 19,200 cattle for $440,000, averaging about $23; of J. P. Higgins & Co., 2,000 stock cattle, $38,000, averaging $19; of same, 2,000 yearlings, $33,000, averaging $16; of Carroll, Barkley & Davis, 2,000 yearlings, $31,000, averaging $15; of Buck & Titus, 2,000 yearlings, $31,000, averaging $15; of Leonard & Shelton, 1,500 yearlings $23,000, averaging about $15; of G. W. West & Co., 3,000 yearlings, $45,000, averaging $15; and they also sold 54,000 acres of land at $14 per acre.

MODOC ITEMS.

Gleaned from a Local Paper of That County.

The subjoined items are taken from the Independent:

It is said that innumerable young crickets are to be seen in the lower end of Hot Spring valley.

Parties from Goose Lake and Surprise tell us that plows are running on every ranch in those valleys.

The nice weather has started the grass, and there is now excellent feed everywhere in the county.

The ice on Goose Lake has not melted yet, notwithstanding the warm weather we have had. It is getting quite rotten, however, and unless there comes a warm wind to melt it soon, it will probably melt away by the 4th of July.

Cedarville is steadily adding to her population by persons from other sections in quest of a home. Among recent arrivals is Dr. Davidson from Nevada, who brings his family and proposes to locate permanently.

Fears are entertained by some that in consequence of the early Spring there will be a partial failure of crops this season throughout the mountain valleys.

The following are taken from the Adit Argus:

Seeding is nearly over, and the outlook is good. As yet there is no feeling of danger from drought.

Ben. S. Bradshaw has become the owner of the Burgett ranch in Big Valley—240 acres of good land, lying on the Pit river.

C. W. Rice of Round Valley informs us that the crickets will do no great amount of damage during the present season.

Plenty of Range for Stock in Modoc County.

In view of the fact that there is a scarcity of feed for the stock in the lower country, and that many of the stock-owners are seeking the mountains in search of feed, the Independent desires to say that Modoc county possesses an unlimited amount of feed, and owners of hungry stock can find no better location than in that county. The county north is an unbroken stock-range, covered with a heavy growth of the best grass. As one man expressed it there is room on this range for a million cattle. The hills to the south, east and west are also covered with grass, and there will be no danger of stock starving to death if they are able to once get there.

Opportune Rain That Will Do Much Good.

The storm predicted by the GAZETTE last Friday is here in full force, according to programme. Last night considerable snow fell in the mountains, and more will fall to-night. The wind this forenoon howled up one side of the street and down the other, playing havoc with rickety signs and plug hats. A good square storm is needed very much just now. The rain that fell last night and to-day will do much toward freshening vegetation of all sorts. It seems that nearly the whole coast has been visited by heavy showers during the past two days.

Something New.

An entertainment is to be given at the pavilion some time next month for the benefit of the Baptist church, a leading feature of which will be an old-fashioned "sugaring off." The syrup will be the Simon pure maple, imported from Vermont, and in sufficient quantity to supply everybody who comes. To those who know anything about the "sap bush" this will be a rare treat. Refreshments and an "old folk's concert" will add interest to the occasion. The time has not been definitely fixed, but will be about the 20th of the month.

For Sale.

C. S. Martin advertises the property of Wm. H. Joy for sale. The property is situated at Washoe City. See adv.

THE SACRAMENTO WIGGINS.

Sergeant Barwick Adopts Herschel's Theory.

Sergeant Barwick of the Sacramento Signal Service station informs the Bee that Herschel says the nearer midday the changes of the moon occur, the better the prospects are for bad and stormy weather, and vice versa when it occurs near midnight. The moon changed on the 15th at 3:15 P. M. The weather for the seven days following ought to be changeable. We all know that it was. The moon was full on the 23d at 1:09 P. M. Herschel's table says the next seven days should be more or less rainy. The third quarter of the moon occurs at 3:45 P. M. on the 31st. The weather should then for seven days after be changeable. According to Herschel the weather in April ought to be changeable from the 7th to the 14th, from the 14th to the 22nd cold or cool and showery; from the 22d to the 30th, wind and occasional rains. If so, then our crops are safe and the people will be prosperous, happy and contented.

Young Men who are Anxious to Distinguish Themselves.

Two nice young men from below made themselves conspicuous last evening by displaying their pistols. They first exhibited their weapons on the Palace corner, but finding no one who appeared to be much frightened, they made a foray upon the Lake House. They butted up against Geo. Humphrey and boasted that there were not officers enough in Reno to arrest them, but notwithstanding all this, they were ignominiously lugged off by Deputy Sheriff McInnis and placed in jail, where they remained all night in spite of their efforts to obtain bail. It was really rough on the young gentlemen.

They were examined before Justice Young this afternoon and pleaded guilty, were fined $40 each, paid it and were discharged.

The New Town at Mount Cory.

The town of Coryville is situated near the group of mines. It was laid out by A. G. McKenzie last February, says the Walker Lake Bulletin, on land purchased from the Government by the Mount Cory Company. It now contains thirteen well built houses, with several more in course of construction and a great many more in prospect, for some of which the material has already been purchased. There are also a number of houses to be moved to that place from Bodie and other towns. The town-site is laid out in twelve blocks, with eight 40x80 feet lots in a block.

A Flying Swill-Can.

Yesterday afternoon the horse that draws the municipal garbage cart got his back up at something and took a spin around the block. He neatly shaved off the corner of Miss May Murphy's residence, and striking a dead freight wagon at right angles stripped it of the pole and other projecting points. When arrested in his mad career he had run up a good bill for damages against the popular chiffonier, who was, nevertheless, much pleased to see his horse display so much life.
